The Leader in Me®

great happens here

Embracing self-awareness is one of the hallmarks of TLH that believes in nothing less than directing its learners to know themselves and their worth amongst others. To further materialize this aim, The Learning Hub Cambridge, in collaboration with FranklinCovey organization, has launched a mega Leader in Me program. The school, after hosting an extensive workshop session of one week, that included entire campus staff, has undergone a whole-school transformation to incorporate the new strategies in its academic setting.

Leader in Me helps students learn how to become self-reliant, take initiative, plan ahead, set and track goals, prioritize their time, manage their emotions, be considerate of others, express their viewpoint persuasively, resolve conflicts, find creative solutions, value differences, and live a balanced life. The process helps students develop the skills and self-confidence they need to lead their lives and succeed in school and beyond.

VIRTUAL CLASSES

In the wake of the pandemic that took its roots - along with many other countries worldwide - in Pakistan this February, almost every institution of the country faced an immediate downturn, being taken completely off guard having no clues of the future; with the imposition of lockdown deep frustrations and helplessness prevailed.

In these unprecedented circumstances, The Learning Hub Cambridge remained composed, stood firm, and very systematically turned a completely different route in its academic setting. March 2020 witnessed Education Reimagined following a whole new arrangement for remote classes, which eventually commenced in March through Microsoft Teams. The highly efficient staff of TLH, wasting no time, immediately began its work on board. The platform was understood, learned comprehensively, and soon taken up by all teachers. Extensive efforts put in by the school's IT experts, who facilitated the staff wherever and whenever it was needed, were widely acknowledged.

The logo clearly got our message across: 'Our buildings are closed but schools are not.' While teachers played their own part with resilience – working amid the anxiety and distress that surged across the country – the students and parents cooperated equally well, contributing their own time and energies towards achieving the set goal. With classes scheduled and timetables effectively put in place, a new era of online teaching took off, and that soon turned out to be a striking success with lessons efficiently delivered, home tasks assigned, and assignments handed in – all online.

With school closures came a drastic change in the education system: a stark rise of e-learning, whereby teaching began remotely and on digital platforms.

To meet the challenges during the pandemic, The Learning Hub provided a platform for the teachers to adopt this advanced form of teaching. The administration worked tirelessly for the professional development of teachers and has since taken many initiatives to provide quality education to its students even in these circumstances. In this respect, webinars were arranged by the school's IT faculty to facilitate the staff members, in which every teacher gladly participated, and is now proceeding successfully.

MATHLETICS

This year once again, students were kept enthusiastically engaged with mathematics through rewards that Mathletics offers, undertaking interactive activities, games and challenges via the platform, following which several won silver and bronze certificates for their outstanding performances. Alwaz Ramzan from 6th Pink won a silver and bronze certificate while Eman Atif from the same class won a bronze certificate. Hanzla Muhammad Javed from 9th Silver also grabbed a silver certificate for his remarkable feat.

Art and Design

Deeply and justifiably concerned about fostering creativity among students, TLH, while scheduling its online lessons, did not overlook the subject of Art and Design, where discussions were held on various artistic designs and sketches. Students were strongly encouraged to share and manifest their creative ideas through their artwork; popular artists' histories and paintings were shared by the teachers; and techniques such as paint detailing, calligraphy, recycling, sketching, dot painting, sculptures, and craft ideas were taught.

The challenging times prompted The Little Art - a non-profit arts education organization - to use the medium of art for children to express their ideas, fears, hopes, and thoughts through different creative expressions during this time of crisis.

ArtBeat Digital National Child Art Competition was thus held this July, where students participated by submitting a painting, drawing and/or digital art. Themes included: Corona, Self-hygiene, Spring, Gender-based violence and issues of access, Hopes for the future, Family, and Memories from the past. Students' independent thinking was greatly appreciated and individuality promoted, which pleasantly resulted in them producing some of the best works to submit for the competition.

Participants were Haseeb Tahir, Zohaib Afzal and Muhammad Ibrahim Omar from 6th Silver, Rania Allauddin from 6th Pink, Ifra Imran and Nibras from 7th Pink, Bareerah Nadeem, Amima Ausaf and Sara Azam from 8th Pink, and Ameer Hamza from 8th Silver.

Physical Activities

While students went about their coursework online, their need to relieve stress during the pandemic did not go ignored, which called for the incorporating of extracurricular activities into the timetable. Physical Education class was gladly welcomed as a befitting parallel to the sports lesson by the students, who enjoyed different sports videos shared by their teachers. Rules of students' favorite games were taught, which included football, badminton, volleyball, etc., while athletics and other field events were also given equal emphasis. To top it off, students learned new exercises to boost their physical health amid the anxiety that prevailed.

The evident efficacy of fundamentally be attributed tireless efforts made by TLH's considering which, teachers' celebrated. The week-long celebration teachers and entailed heartfelt video acknowledging the teachers' unwavering made.

GLOBAL PERSPECTIVES PRESENTATIONS

Have a look at the brilliant presentations of our amazing students from Cambridge Lower Secondary 6th Pink on New Year Celebrations in Global Perspectives (1129). Global Perspectives is a ground-breaking and stimulating course that stretches across traditional subject boundaries and develops transferable skills. It is both cross-curricular and skills-based and taps into the way learners of today enjoy learning, including teamwork, presentations, projects, and working with other learners around the world. This activity has not only given them the opportunity to experience the process of research but has also prepared for the bright future which will require excellent communicative and analytical skills. The main focus of this activity was on developing the sense of critical thinking in them which helps them to understand and analyse multiple narratives to come up with some better conclusions in their future endeavours.

ONLINE PARENT TEACHER MEETING

Keeping parents informed of their child's progress and getting them well-acquainted with their class activities holds vital importance for us. Parent-Teacher Meeting is one of the platforms that not only appraises parents of students' endeavours in school but also paves the way for a thorough discussion about their struggles and hindrances.

For that matter, as always, Parent Teacher Meeting was scheduled – this time online – to address any of the issues that students might have. Saturday 6th June 2020 was set, and parents were invited to join at Teams. The meeting emerged with a favorable outcome, having had various problems addressed and tackled effectively.

1st Interim Assessment — June 2020

Online Open Book Examination

The main premise for open book exams is that teachers can devise questions that require students to answer in more critical and analytical ways, thus encouraging high-order thinking skills in their students as compared to closed book or traditional exams that tend to encourage rote learning and more superficial application of knowledge.

The 1st Interim Assessment – June 2020 (Online Open Book Examination) commenced on 15th June 2020. Students as usual set themselves up for the crucial period and this time sat exams online. Entire TLH staff came together for the effective management and organization of online examination, and eventually triumphed in making it a startling success.

In keeping with the tradition of providing a means for student expression and assistance in school affairs and activities, TLH held elections this year on July 20th for deserving students to be appointed to formal leadership positions. Several willing and capable candidates came forward to participate. Just like all other school activities, this one too was rerouted to Microsoft Teams. Students produced catchy slogans, designed a variety of campaign-themed templates, and delivered eloquent speeches ahead of elections. Having undertaken all such tasks online this time, these elections undoubtedly turned out to be one of a kind.

The outcome this year earned Ayesha Shamshad and Omar Ahsan Tariq, both of class 10C, the President positions for girls' and boys' branch respectively. Inza Cheema won the title of Head Girl and Syed Hassnain Abbas was elected as a Head Boy.

Making their mark once again with an incredible performance in CAIEs, TLH students added another tremendous result to the school's record. In a major breakthrough this year, the 4th batch secured 83 A*/A out of a total of 113 grades, followed by the 5th batch that obtained 86 A*/A out of 98 grades, impressively upscaling the school's CGPA to 3.83/4 and 3.91/4 respectively.
